Spring Summer 21 'RESET'

The RESET

Taken aback by the devastating Australian wildfires, the designer was inspired to narrate a story that protects nature and encourages us to reset our lifestyles.

We played with rich shades of emerald green, symbolising nature in its pristine form, and introducing layers of brown rusty lifeless leaves, highlighting the destructure, that is a threat to humanity if we refuse to reset.

The introduction of this new green print was coupled with a past story telling of divine underwater sea patterns.

The RESET is a beautiful discourse that guides you to a place of tranquility allowing you to revert back to basics. It is a consciously minimalistic collection using remnants and up-cycled pieces focusing more on comfort as a reflection of the current state of global affairs.

EKI is known for its signature soft silks and ethereal chiffons that form delicate drapings and flowing silhouettes. Designed with the modern woman in mind, the collections feature a combination of versatile separates and gorgeous kaftans that make it light and easy to travel with.

As is customary with EKI, the story of the print drives the meaning behind each collection. This is then married with sublime silhouettes to create a powerful fashion story. We have built a narrative around the prints which tell stories of Nature, Culture or Travel, always inspired by Africa.

When you buy an EKI piece, you not only own a piece that tells a unique African story celebrating life and culture but you also invest in our planet's future by supporting a brand that makes conscious production and fabric choices.

EKI means Centre of Attraction and by wearing an EKI piece, you gravitate towards being that attraction.

EKI has been worn by celebrities like Hollywood actresses Lupita Nyong'o and Thandie Newton, Philanthropist/ Model Noella Cour-saris, Musician and environmentalist advocate ELLE and Prada Model Malaika Firth.
